Fun Facts!

Northeast Heavyweight Championship Title Fight

Hyannis' Jesse Barboza (9-1-1, 5 KO's) steps into the ring to take on Pennsylvania's Jesse Oltmanns (10-5, 7 KO's) for his first shot at a title as a pro fighter and the first time he has fought in his hometown as a professional. As an amateur, Barboza won three New England Golden Gloves titles.

Light-Heavyweight Match-up

Harwich's Paul Gonsalves (7-7-1, 3 KO's) takes on Mexico's Rafael Valenzuela (8-5, 1 KO) in his first fight in his native Cape Cod, but he's already fought at some prestigious boxing venues as a pro fighter, including New York's Madison Square Garden, Mohegan Sun Casino in Connecticut and the UIC Pavillion in Chicago in a bout that was broadcast nationally on ESPN.

Pembroke's Vinnie Carita (9-1-1, 9 KO's)

When Vinnie steps into the ring, it will be the first time he has fought in Hyannis since his pro debut in May 2005. That night, at the then Sheraton Resort, Carita made a successful pro debut with a first round TKO of Brockton's Derrick Osborne.

Both Jesse Barboza and Paul Gonsalves come from families of fighters.

Barboza's grandfather Walter Barboza was a professional welterweight fighter in the 1950s and Paul Gonsalves father David Gonsalves, Sr. was also a pro fighter.

August 8, 2015 at the HYCC presented by Boston Boxing Promotions.

It will be the first professional boxing event held in Hyannis since 2006.
